BROADHEAD.

Broadhead, April 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Henry were passengers to Rockford, Wednesday, to attend the funeral of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friedman. Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn and daughter, Mrs. Bert Hutzler, went to Chicago on Wednesday for a few days' visit with Messrs. Wm. and Charley Glenn. Miss Lotta Block of Madison was the guest of Broadhead friends from Friday until Wednesday. Mrs. Budde Walte and children of Oaklawn are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Clawson. Mrs. Florence Richter and little son were in Janesville with friends Wednesday night. Mrs. C. J. Lyons entertained the Sub-flow club last evening in a most pleasant way. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Altherton of Albany spent Tuesday in Broadhead with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hooker. C. B. Anger of Fargo, N. Dakota is spending some time in and about Broadhead in the interests of western land companies. Miss Cora Hoebel, who has been spending some months in Washington, D. C., and other eastern points, returned home on Saturday evening and will remain for the summer with Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Kirkpatrick. Rev. Kvale of Orlundville will preach in the West church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 sharp. The Junior Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Laura Blair on Friday afternoon of this week.

ON SPECIAL TRAIN FOR PACIFIC COAST

J. F. Sweeney and Dr. and Mrs. Pembler will leave Chicago tonight with the special train for the Pacific coast. Landlord John F. Sweeney of the Grand hotel and Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Pembler will be passengers on the special train which leaves Chicago at 8:15 this evening, carrying eastern and middle western delegates to the 31st annual reunion of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association which begins at Los Angeles, Cal., on April 12. The Janesville pilgrims will visit Kansas City, Los Angeles, N. M., the Grand Canyon, San Antonio, Cal., Long Beach, Pasadena, San Francisco, Seattle, and Minneapolis, before their return during the first week in May. C. W. Delvey of Chicago, formerly of the St. Charles hotel, Milwaukee, will manage the local hospitality during Mr. Sweeney's absence.

Chicago and North-Western. NUMEROUS FIREMEN ARE NOW GIVING UP THEIR POSITIONS

Hard Work Caused by Big Engines and Poor Coal Said to Be the Reason.

Whether it is just spring fever or because the work is growing heavier each day, the fact remains that an unusual number of firemen have given up their positions in the past few weeks. Those who have quit the road are not all new men who have become discouraged after a short trial but are men with two and three years' rights. Recently at Fond du Lac eleven firemen quit within a day and five have asked for their time in this city during the past two weeks. It is thought that the poor quality of coal being furnished by the company is responsible for the dissatisfaction of the firemen and also the fact that heavy loads are being pulled. The rule since last fall, with a big class "2" engine and all 1,800 ton drag, the second man in the cab reaches his limit when the regulation sixteen hours are up.

MANY BAD ORDER CARS ARE CAUSING ROAD HEAVY LOSS

Big Engines Pull Out Draw Bars and Switching Accidents Damage Many.

According to a bulletin recently issued, two hundred and four drawbars were pulled out on the Madison division last year. These official figures confirm the statements made by engineers when the new class "2" engines were put into service, that the rolling stock would suffer as a result of the heavy tonnage that the "2s" would be forced to drag. Not only has the rolling stock suffered from being placed in heavy trains but the number of bad order cars seems to be increasing. At the present time, there are over 120 on side tracks in the new yards being equipped. Many of these are damaged while being switched in the various yards but the large number of bad orders can not be held to the account of increased carelessness on the part of switchmen.

ENGINEER GEORGE BIRCH WAS INJURED LAST NIGHT

Received Bat Cut Over Right Eye in Collision Near Round House.

Engineer George Birch of Fond du Lac received a severe cut just above the right eye last night at 8:15 while backing his engine from the round house. He was going about four miles an hour with a light engine when he struck a string of fifteen cars which had been left on a lead without a light. The shock of the collision threw him from his seat against the window, inflicting a gash that required several stitches to close.

CHASER HAS BEEN MADE IN WISCONSIN DIVISION CREWS

Engineer Dudley and Fireman Garry Given 522 and Harrington Turn Around.

Numerous changes in engine crews on the Wisconsin Division are listed in a recent bulletin. Among the most important are the appointment of Engineer M. O. Dudley and Fireman J. H. Garry to run 522 and extra Janesville and Harrington turn around; Engineer H. F. Stearns to passenger trains second 509 and second 506 between Chicago and Janesville; Engineer George Childer to freight trains 581 and 584 between Chicago and Janesville; and Engineer W. T. Dawson and Fireman J. R. Dugan to freight trains 643 and 35.

ROUND FORCE HAD GROUP PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN

The entire round house force at the new yards were "mugged" yesterday afternoon after being placed in battle power on switch engine 107 which was newly pushed off the turn table into the pit by the rush of a number to secure favorable positions on the stack and other conspicuous points. The car repairers and several section gangs and switching crews also had their picture "taken."

PECULIAR VISION OF FISH

Hypothesis That Seems to Explain the Constant Revolution of the Eyeball.

The medium in which fresh-water fishes live gives them a chance to see a great distance only in the horizontal direction. It seems impossible to explain the constant revolution of the eyeball on any other hypothesis except that the optical axis extends forward instead of sideways.

When a fish wishes to eat something, either at the bottom of the pond or at the surface of the water, it swims directly toward the object; and in this case the eyes are instantly adjusted in line with the body, so as to bring the image of the particle desired upon the posterior portion of the retina. In this case they lose their horizontal position.

If a fish wishes to turn to the right or left in the water, the first movement is that of the eyes in unison in the direction of the turning. This would be entirely unnecessary if the apparent axis was the axis of the eyes, as one of the eyes would see all that was to be seen on the side of the turning. After this movement of the eyes, the body turns enough to bring the eyes into their normal position, then there is again a movement of the eyes, and next a movement of the body. This causes a peculiar jerking motion of the eyeballs during the whole time of the turning of the body.

POISE OF TROUT AND KESTREL

Both the Fish and Bird Present Alluring Sight to the Lover of Beauties of Nature.

As the kestrel is in the clouds so is the trout to the crystal waters. Both kestrels and trout displayed that magical poise, as if suspended by invisible threads—only now and then, when cross currents are encountered, is a sign given to show that life itself is not in suspension.

A brief agitation of the trout's tail—wings, a swishing of the kestrel's, and the cross current is weathered, and bird or fish poles motionless again. And as when walking along we are pulled up in ever fresh wonder by the sight of the hovering kestrel, so we must needs pause on a bridge when there is a trout in the stream below.

He looks his best poising with head to the stream—a shapely form against the background of smooth brown pebbles and waving emerald weeds. Looming over the bridge with eyes on the trout a vision is conjured—an alluring bird drops on the water; then a sleek line tightens, there is a song from the reeds, a rod bends; there follows a dazzling dance of vermillion scales against the green of the bank.

Or as we come to the bridge on a winter's day we think we hear a mighty splashing of water over the pobbles—switching turns out to be the play of 30 or 40 trout—the play of the last round of some water tourney. As they come to the surface, rolling and wallowing—their great fat sides look twice as big as when seen through the clear water—they almost make a dim across the stream as they jostle each other seeking for the choicest places on the spawning bed.

Ons Engines for Ships.

The report that an English battleship of 18,000 horse power is to be driven by gas engines without funnels was said by Sir William White recently to be based on an exaggerated idea of what is at present possible in the development of such engines. Yet progress is being made, and on a dozen English battleships gas engines are now in use for auxiliary purposes. It is believed that for small vessels such engines may soon come to be largely employed. They save weight and space, and Lord Graham has expressed the opinion that there would be no difficulty in installing them in ships up to 3,000 horse power.

It Came Handy

By ROCKFORD KING

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

The history of gold mining regions reports itself. First we have the land worth from nothing up to a few dollars an acre. Then some one digs a hole in the ground to put in a post, scoops out a cellar for a home, or something like that, and finds in the dirt taken out indications of the precious metal. He doesn't say anything to anybody, but goes off and gets it assayed. The report being favorable, he lets it be known that he has gold on his property. Those who strike indications promptly claim and organize companies with a few dollars capital, most of which is spent for printing certificates of stock. Every foot of the ground in the vicinity is staked out for miles, which cross and recross one another at every conceivable angle. There are thousands of these pieces of paper, nearly all worthless.

When the Clear Creek region of Colorado was in such a stage as this a man whom I shall call Peter Anderson, a young lawyer from the south, settled in Denver and hung out his shingle. He had a very frugal, patient wife, who was a real helpmate to him. She never permitted anything to be wasted, no matter how little value it possessed, and when her husband railed her on saying worthless things she would say cheerily, "It may come in handy just in the nick of time."

The principal law practiced in Colorado at that time was with the revolver; consequently Peter Anderson found little practice in his profession. But money was easily borrowed, and the Andersons managed to keep body and soul together by small loans. The husband found it dull sitting in his office waiting for clients, so he spent most of his time in a neighboring billiard room playing pool. He told his wife that this was a good way to make acquaintances and thus get business. She said she thought he was right.

The members of such communities are inveterate gamblers. Refreshments and the price of the game were to be paid for by the loser. In addition to this, the players, all of whom were possessed of worthless mining stocks, would put them up to be absorbed by the winner. A number of these certificates came into Peter Anderson's possession, but none of them ever found their way back to the persons from whom he won them. Every night after he had gone to sleep his wife would get up, search his pockets, take out what mining shares she found there and lock them up in an old trunk she kept in the garret. She never looked at the names of the companies they represented or bothered her head as to their value. Indeed, they were worthless or they would not have come so easily into her husband's possession. Every night his pockets were searched and emptied, but in the morning he would not miss his loss. If his wife had taken a few coins he might have noticed it, but mining stocks were quite a different matter. When he went round to the billiard room in the evening he would think that he had won some shares the night before, but finding none in his pocket, fancy he had been mistaken. He was a very good pool player and had no difficulty in borrowing a few shares to begin on. Usually he would win, pay off the loan and go on playing on his own capital. If he left the place with stocks in his pocket, the next morning they would be deposited, as usual, in Mrs. Anderson's trunk.

But the pool players didn't bring Anderson any law business, and the wife was continually snarling about his door. However, the wolves in such communities are usually coyotes, comparatively harmless, for any man will give or lend any other man if he has anything he doesn't need at the moment. Nevertheless Anderson's condition was not attractive, and except when he was playing pool he was very depressed.

One day there was a big strike up on Clear creek. A mining company had opened a vein that paid many hundreds of dollars to the ton. Peter Anderson when he went home that night told his wife about the strike, remarking, "Oh, how I wish I had some of the stock of the company."

"I think you have, dear," said Mrs. Anderson, and she went up to her trunk and brought down an armful of mining shares certificates. "The two sorted them, tossing them when examined on the floor in their eager hunt for the one they coveted. Presently they came to a ten share certificate which alone would keep them for awhile. Then a fifty share turned up, then another ten, then a hundred, five hundred—indeed, all denominations. It was a good while before they got through the accumulated pile. When they did they figured up shares in the lucky company sufficient to give them a fortune of half a million dollars."

When the excitement of the find had died down a bit Anderson asked his wife where she had got all the certificates. "She told him that she had robbed him of them, thinking that some of them might some day come in handy."

Anderson strolled downtown the next day, sold a few shares of his stock and went about paying small debts. That was the last of his mining pool for mining stocks, for he found plenty to do. The day came when he was sent to represent his state in the United States senate.

A Fine New Store for Janesville

Friday morning we open at 109 West Milwaukee street a fine new store. It will be the finest store of its kind in Janesville, carrying a large stock of the best goods, all well displayed and attractively priced.

It will be our policy to quote prices absolutely as low as possible on the best grade of goods, turning our stocks rapidly, doing a cash business and giving our patrons the benefits of cash buying and selling.

Our stock embraces goods in the 5c, 10c, and higher priced lines. It includes Fino China, Stationery, Laces and Embroideries, Hosiery, Glassware, Light Hardware, Blue Enamelled Ware, Flower and Garden Seeds, Candles, Fancy Toilet and Laundry Soaps, Popular Sheet Music, Baseball Goods, and many others.

Our displays are unique. You won't have to look all through the store to find something you want. You can see it almost the moment you step in the door. The wall display racks, the display tables and the display cases are all full of bright, new, fresh merchandise.

The prices here are low. Just as low as we can possibly make them, consistent with good business principles. Everything is marked in plain figures, so that you can see for yourself.

Excellent store service is another feature that will enter into the making of this store. The quick, pleasant, courteous waiting upon customers will be our policy at all times.

200 cans of Dr. Graves' Tooth Powder given away absolutely FREE Tomorrow to the Ladies.

We want you to know this store, we want you to become acquainted with our stocks, our displays, our prices and our store service and to mark our opening day we make this big, generous free offer. There are no strings attached to this offer. We will give the tooth powder away absolutely free to the ladies.

We have only 200 cans of the powder. It is possible that some ladies would be unable to get down town before the powder would be all distributed, so we have arranged to give it out in the following manner: 100 cans will be given out in the morning. Starting at 8:00 o'clock they will be given out while the 100 last. In the afternoon we will start on the second 100 cans and will give them out while they last.

Everyone knows what Dr. Graves' Tooth Powder is. It is the recognized standard tooth powder, and is recommended by dentists and physicians everywhere. Come down tomorrow and view our new store and get a can of this powder at our expense.

The success of a recent effort along this line was most pronounced. Madame Mazarin, of the Manhattan opera house, consented to sing "Carmen" into the wireless instrument and a select audience in the Metropolitan tower building a mile away were charmed by her voice as well as the novelty of the performance. It was explained by George F. The-look, representative of the Radio company, that the Radio telephone has been in use for several months, and that communications have been had between this city and Albany and between Hampton Roads and the British Isles. Connecticut, San Antonio, New York and Newark were also on the wire.

COMBINATION GRATER

Plate on Side Permits It to Be Used as Ordinary Vessel.

Combination graters are greatly in demand, especially among the ever-increasing part of the population that is living in flats. A Michigan woman has devised a combination kitchen utensil which may be used equally well as an ordinary containing vessel or as a grater.

USEFUL IN SMALL KITCHENS.
The vessel is like a large mug with one side provided with a perforated grating surface. Hinged to the bottom at this side is a curved plate that fits closely around the receptacle and closes the perforations, thereby converting it into a vessel that will hold anything but liquid. A ring goes over the top of the device when the plate is drawn up to hold it in position. When it is desired to use the vessel as a grater, the plate is let down and the perforated surface exposed. Those who have always had plenty of room in their kitchens for all the articles they are likely to buy, cannot understand how convenient such a utensil is in the tiny kitchen in the average flat.

Literary Pugilists By WALT MASON

I try to picture in my mind the gentry of the bruising kind, as swapping stalwart blow and buff till one or t'other's laid out stiff. Alas! that picture fades away; I try, but cannot make it stay; there rises up before me then a picture of these fighting men preparing, far from scenes of strife, the fateful "Story of My Life." And when the helpful dopes on sale, the sports will buy it by the bale, with all its wealth of ruptured phrase, and grammar knocked four hundred ways. Big Jeff can nail a pile of cash by writing up some reams of trash about his boyhood on the farm, before he was the Great Alarm, but Reverend Audrey Vere de Vere, who prints his sermons once a year, can't sell enough of his great tome to buy a carpet for his home; and Percy Gwendolin Fitzgibbon, who writes the most enchanting verse, can't give her doggone book away; oh, is it right or proper, pray?

THIEVES BUSY LAST EVENING

STOLE 18 LEWIS UNION SUITS
FROM FREIGHT CAR.

FOUR BUSINESS PLACES

Were Also Entered and Cash Registers and Drawers Tapped—Bert Van Houten Heaviest Loser.

Hobbes and other thieves were exceedingly active in five localities last evening and reports of their depredations and a few slender clues have kept the police officers busy. The depredations at Deloit and Madison have also been informed and any suspicious looking wayfarer who is found wearing a new union suit of Lewis underwear or carrying a pearl-handled jack-knife with a scissor blade or smoking a "Miss White" cigar made in Italy or carrying a surprise of pomphos and nichols or a jeweled jacket will be taken into custody.

Van Houten Saloon Robbery.
The visitation at Bert Van Houten's saloon, 117 West Milwaukee street, was of twenty minutes' duration and occurred just after the proprietor had taken his departure from the place at ten minutes after eleven. Entrance was effected by breaking in a small rear window, an upstart large enough to permit a hand to reach through and lift the wooden bar which barricades the door. The thief or thieves found the compartment of the double cash-register which contained the money, unlocked, and abstracted therefrom some ten dollars in currency and a pocket watch with a small diamond and worth about $15. The slot-machine was carried to the rear and after it had been broken open the nickels were sorted out from the trade coins or slugs and added to the plunder. At half past eleven O'Clock Officer Hallen and Frank Sutherland passed the place and noticed that the large rear lamp which is always left lighted, was not burning. The investigation which followed showed that no cigars or liquor or other property had been taken. Officer Patrick Fanning and the other patrolmen, as well, watched all outgoing freight trains and visited the favorite haunts of the "guise" but found no suspects who could not give a plausible account of themselves. Nobody got aboard the 12:30 freight to Madison, the last train to leave the city.

Hobbes in Fancy Underwear.
Moonlight, or perhaps thereafter, with the aid of a sharp-pointed bar of iron, the seal had been broken on a car billed to Minneapolis and set out at some little distance from the C. & N. W. freight depot, and a wooden crate containing a large number of postcard boxes of the Lewis Knitting Co.'s summer underwear had been removed and carried to an empty car back of Rumrill's last tobacco warehouse. There, judging from the evidence found this morning, a hasty choice of eighteen suits contained in bins of the boxes was made and the balance left behind for the railroad authorities to reassemble. When the discovery was made this morning Officer Peter Champion went out to the stockyards. In an empty refrigerator car he found one sleeping and half frozen hobo and the following cast-off articles of wearing apparel: One white bosom shirt which had been torn to shreds, evidently to provide bandages, one soft shirt, a pair of drawers, a black Prince Albert coat, a derby hat, and a gray fedora. The hobo stood inspection but no new underwear or valuables were found on his person and he gave no information of any value.

At Warner's Candy Store.
It also developed this morning that Vernon L. Warner's little confectionery store adjoining the library was entered via a rear window sometime during the night and a box of "Miss White" cigars and a quantity of smoking tobacco and pipes, and three hundred pennies taken away.

Called on Kronitz Bros.
The back window of Kronitz Bros' meat market at 115 East Milwaukee street was removed intact and a careful survey made of the premises but there was no money in the cash register and no attempt was made either to crack the safe or carry away any of the meat.

Also the "Coal Men."
Plewright & Menzies' coal and wood office at 153 South River street was also broken into by the rear window route. A pearl-handled jack-knife containing a scissor blade and an iron pencil constituted the sum-total of the booty carried away from that quarter.

Door Left Open?
Officer Thomas Morrison found the rear door of W. J. Reedy's cigar and pool room on West Milwaukee street unlocked, but the proprietor was of the opinion that that was due to his own oversight.

Tried the Grubb Store.
It was learned this afternoon that an attempt was also made to break into Grubb's grocery store. The thieves got into a little ante-room but were either unable to proceed further or were frightened away.

Looking for Colored Man.
A large, very dark colored man wearing a soft white hat and low button shoes who had been hanging about town for the past day or two and secured lodging at the city lock-up Tuesday night could not be found when the officers tried to locate him today. Early last evening he tried to negotiate a loan from the porter at Brown's barber shop. Three well-dressed individuals who were "flushing the can" from the Northwestern yards yesterday had also vanished.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL
Will Be Held At Half Past Seven O'clock Tonight To Canvass the Election Returns.

Mayor Carle has called a special meeting of the common council this evening for the purpose of canvassing the election returns and certifying the people's choice of the various successful candidates.

MRS. WILLIAMS DIED AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Widow of the Late Charles G. Williams Passed Away at Watertown, S. Dakota—Remains to Be Brought Here.

Mrs. Mary N. Williams, widow of the late Hon. Charles G. Williams, died April 6th at Watertown, South Dakota, at the home of her daughter, with whom she had lived for several years. Mrs. Williams' illness has been of long duration and everything possible was done for her relief. The loving devotion of her daughter and her husband, Dr. H. Campbell, during these years has been constant and unflinching.

Mary Anna Noggle Williams was born April 17, 1836, at Broadfield, Ohio, her parents being David and Anna Lewis Noggle, who came to Janesville in 1856. She was educated at Phillips Union seminary, Albion, N. Y., graduating in June, 1856. Returning to Janesville in December of that year she became the wife of Charles G. Williams, who was in partnership with her father, Judge Noggle, at that time. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams in Janesville during their residence of more than twenty years was an ideal one noted for its hospitality, and was the scene of many delightful social gatherings. Mrs. Williams had a life filled with many pleasant events. Her husband was for four years in the Wisconsin state senate where the social life of Madison was very enjoyable. In 1872 Mr. Williams was elected to congress and received much service during an uninterrupted service of ten years. Mrs. Williams' affable disposition and cordial hospitality drew her to hold a high position in the social world and in such position she was always pleased to meet home friends.

Mrs. Williams preserved a notable collection of invitations received during her sojourn in Washington, also photographs of the great men she met during that time and enjoyed relating many interesting anecdotes of them all to her friends, especially during her residence in Dakota, whither Mr. and Mrs. Williams moved from Janesville in 1883. After Mr. Williams' death in 1892 Mrs. Williams returned to Janesville, building a home for her mother and herself, which she kept for eight years. Ill-health compelled her to abandon this plan and she went to Watertown to make her home with her daughter. Until her health failed she was an active worker in the Episcopal church of which she has been a member since childhood.

Surviving Mrs. Williams are her daughter, Mrs. Kate W. Campbell of Watertown, S. Dakota; a son, Ward D. Williams of New York City; a grand-daughter, Louise Williams; four sisters and two brothers. Many of her friends in Janesville will mourn the passing away of a true and loving friend for such was Mrs. Williams to those who knew her.

The remains will arrive in Janesville Saturday morning. Interment will be at Oak Hill cemetery.

Expected at Jail: Herbert Dodge of Deloit will be brought to the county jail sometime this afternoon. He is to remain here pending a trial for habitual drunkenness, a penitentiary offense.

Action of Animal Charcoal.
Why animal charcoal removes the color from colored liquids while wood charcoal has no effect has not been understood. A European chemist now finds that the action of the former is due to the presence of iron and seven per cent. of nitrogen.

THEATRE

Tomorrow evening The Elks present their annual spring musical attraction at the Myers Theatre. Many shows come and go at Chicago, but the one that has not, like "Tennyson's" brood, with unabated flood and interest from the opening of the fall season through a period of five months was the Whitney production "They Loved A Lassie." It is pleasant to remark in this connection that this farce is peculiarly free from offending specialties and text. This fact sets the general notion that the success of musical farces rests on dress and joke and not on the quality of the performance. The Elks' farce is as clean cut as a cannon in every funny situation and every character type, the songs snap with witty suggestion, the dances are dainty and new, and the music is of the kind that elicits, in the Whitneys' production, an entirely new and expanded melody with costume and scenery, the principals, upon whose shoulders rest the main action of this play, are admirably chosen, with the result that the performance is smooth and delightfully effective.

In "They Loved A Lassie" is a horn comedian, and has an individuality of style that gives added charm to the author's lines. Alice Yorkie reminds one of a precious bit of Dresden China and sings like a bird. Forest Huff is young and handsome, and sings with a sincerity and purity of voice seldom met with in musical comedy. Helena Phillips, Amy Hamlin, George Pettengill, Eugene Monahan and Joseph Merrell are other star players in this unique cast, who make a splendid use of their opportunities.

The Hansel and Gretel, "Good-bye People," numbers have become prime favorites with the crowds, and are destined to be sung and whistled into white fume.

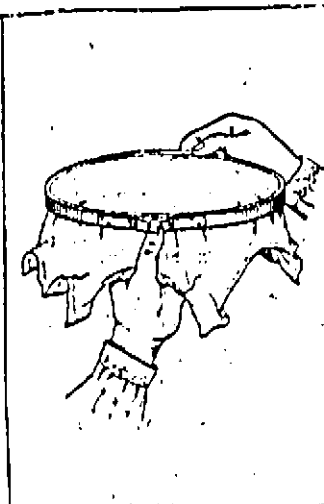

The next act at the Peoples' Drug Company shows that there are many good songs left and a full house is to be expected.

"The Girl From Home" which comes to Myers Theatre on April 9, matinee and evening, is a strong story of old Kentucky. The plot is well laid, and conforms closely to conditions, as they exist, in that locale. Miss Mary Carow will be seen

In the title role, ably assisted by a picked cast of players. The special scenic effects from the studio of Harry Bulder, are said to be the work of art.

Enormous Herds of Deer.
While making a long expedition through the northern Canadian wilderness Inspector Pelletier saw many strange sights. Probably the most picturesque part of the journey was the passage across Arcturion lake to the Height of Land. Inspector Pelletier has this to say on the event: "Aided by the sails we were making good time, but were delayed by large numbers of deer crossing at various points. We must have seen between twenty and forty thousand. The hills on both shores were covered with them and at a dozen or more places where the lake was from a half to one mile wide solid columns of deer four or five abreast were swimming across, and so closely that we did not like to venture through them for fear of getting into some mix-up."

Would Be More Popular.
If the ladies' fashions will make it the fashion for a woman to wear dresses she can put on without the help of her husband, the cook and a monkey wrench, they will be popular with the fellows who pay the bills.—Washington Times.

EMBROIDERY HOOP
Outer Ring Released by Pressure on Spring at Side

One of the minor inventions that help make the little things easier for women is the embroidery hoop devised by a Florida man and shown in the illustration. The merit of this hoop is that the two rings are quickly and easily separated and that without having any pressure on the fabric between them. The inner ring is solid, as is usual, but the outer one has a segment cut out and is joined by a strip of metal bowed outwardly so as to form a spring. By pressure of the thumb on this spring the outer ring is widened and removed without any strain on the cloth between the two. Often this cloth is of such a fine texture that the rubbing of it between the hoops causes tears, or at least spoils the weave. A woman who has put weeks or even months on a fine piece of embroidery will appreciate the advantage of having a pair of hoops that eliminate the danger of having her work damaged at the last moment.

New Yorkers Fond of Candy.

Father Knickerbocker has a remarkably sweet tooth. Candy-makers say that more of their product is eaten in New York than in any other city in the world and more than in any other three cities on this continent. Men show almost as great fondness for it as women do, and many shops in the business sections are patronized almost exclusively by them.

Misery in Head

"I had misery in my head, was irritable—wretched. A druggist recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine. From the first I improved, and I continued until I was entirely well again." MISS VIOLA BAKER, Orange, Texas.

If you are subject to headache, backache, neuralgia, epilepsy, weak stomach—the chances are your nervous system is run down. All the organs get their energy from the nerves, and when they are out of order, it is because you lack nerve force.

Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy and consequently strengthens the action of the organs.

The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

Defended Their Convent.

A remarkable conflict has taken place at the convent at Barchineta, Spain, between the nuns and a band of robbers who wanted the gold and silver ornaments, tapestries and paintings. The nuns, however, received timely warning, and barricaded the windows and the doors. They also armed themselves with old fowling pieces and pistols, and made a courageous resistance, keeping the robbers at bay. A force of Civil Guards reached the convent just as the brigands had managed to force one of the back doors. The Guards fired a volley, killing two and wounding three, whereupon the remainder fled. Three of the nuns were injured.

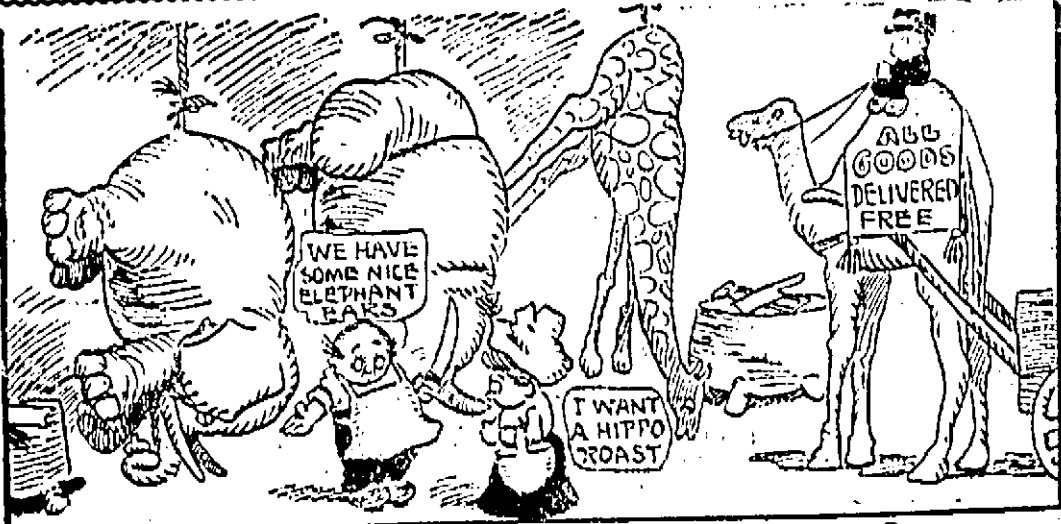

Fault That Is Common.

Some people are so much occupied in going about doing good to others that they have not time to become good themselves.

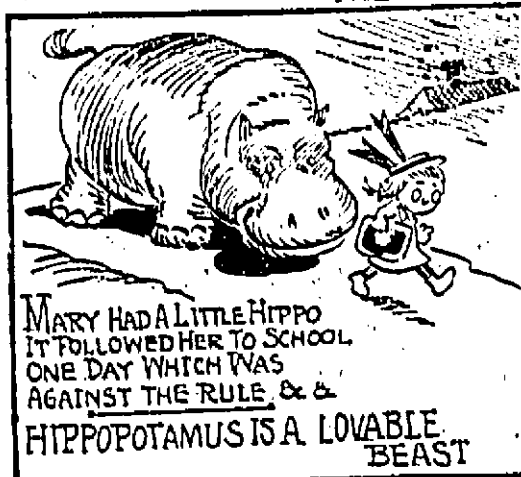

Polling the Air.

"The recent seizure of Mix, the American, and his balloon by Russian troops after he had landed on Russian territory in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, is indicative of the jealousy with which European powers guard their frontiers from attempts of possible foreign spies to pass them," writes R. H. Kidd, in Harper's Weekly. "Although there is no specific provision in the American statutes that would seem to cover this question . . . so far as an aircraft, hovering now about our military reservations, or fortifications, or navy yard is concerned, the authorities could and undoubtedly would take summary action, if it were deemed necessary."

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

Playing Golf in Star-Land

ALL aboard for Star-Land, children! softly cried, the quaint little figure that stepped through the nursery window.

The Mouse tickled the twins awake and helped them dress in the golf suits he had brought; a red jacket, kilts like a Scotch bagpiper's, and plaid stockings, for each.

"What is the star for, Mr. Tickle-mouse?" Dorfy asked, pointing to the silver embroidery on the sleeves.

"The Star-Land Golf Club," proudly said the Mouse. "I'm going to make you and Davy star-players before the night is over! He reached toward one of the moonbeams that streamed in through the window and twisted it between his skinny fingers till it was stretched out into a long, elastic, silky thread. One end he tied round a golf ball, coiling the shining strands on the floor. The other he passed through Davy's and Dorfy's belts, and made it fast to his own. "Taking a driver from his bag, he settled himself in his tracks, made a few swift passes at the ball, then swung at it with all his might. Z-z-z-z! It shot through the window high into the star-sky, and the twins felt themselves jerked suddenly after it—up—up into the fleecy clouds. They stepped gingerly about on the springy clouds; the Star-Land golf links, sure enough!

"Next drive-off in two minutes, sir!" said a respectful voice, and he heard a watch snap shut. Startled, the twins whirled around and saw a policeman in a sky-blue uniform buttoned with tiny stars. "Names, please," said the policeman, whipping out a little note-book and pencil.

"T. Mouse, and the famous Sleepy-land Twins," answered the Tickle-mouse, stooping to make a little bow from a handkerchief tonight. "The policeman nodded and passed on, and the Mouse showed them how to fix their stardust tees, set a small, twinkling star atop, and drive it far over the links toward the wee pink cloud that marked the next hole. They carried no stars with them, but picked them up along the course as needed.

"Don't make any mistake about which stars you hit, now," cautioned the Mouse. "Those stars across there are the Big Bear and Little Bear; and away down there is the Dog Star. That's the worst of any, for it's full of sky terriers, and it's as much as your life is worth to hit one of them. Look sharp, now—I can't watch you every drive."

"Oh," said Dorfy, "I've always wondered," and with an extra flourish she made a wild drive and struck the Dog Star.

"Ki-yi! Ki-yi-yi!" yipped a little sky terrier, tumbling off his white perch and limping off to the yelping pack. And before the little girl could cry out to her friends for help, the Dog Star had snuffed out its dozens of watchdogs on the pond and they were chasing her wildly down the golf course toward the Milky Way.

Davy and the Ticklemouse heard the little girl come screaming toward them. The Mouse dropped his club, grasped each twin by the hand, and dragged them madly back to the moonbeam rope beside the box of stardust. The snarling, yelping pack of sky terriers raced closer and closer to them, and the Mouse's hands shook as he tried to make fast the shiny line to the belts of the twins.

"Yip! How wily y-y-y-y!" howled the terriers, closing in. The Tickle-mouse kicked at the rope. It stretched and snapped back like a big rubber band, jerking the three to the nursery window, but not before the biggest, wickedest looking terrier had sunk his teeth in the hem of Davy's kilts. For an instant the strong plaid cloth stood the strain, then it parted, leaving the skirt in the terrier's angry jaws.

"Whew!" panted the Mouse, "that was a narrow escape! Guess next time we'd better stick closer together."

The next morning the twins saw their playmates, who were flying kites in the vacant lot next door, point excitedly to something that fluttered, blue and red checkered like a Scotch bagpiper's clothes, far above them in the clouds.

"It's a flag!" they heard one of the boys say. "Somebody's sent a flag up on a kite string, so high we can't see on a kite string, so high we can't see the kite. Wonder whose it is?"

But the twins only smiled wisely, knowing it was no flag, but Davy's little plaid skirt.

minute and keep up my own game."

It was great fun, when they managed to give the stars just the right whack, to watch them soar into the sky and away down toward the goal with a long streamer of light trailing after, like the tail of a comet.

"Ever wonder what makes shooting stars bob around so in the sky?" called the Mouse, when the twins stopped to stare at a small, twinkling star atop, and drive it far over the links toward the wee pink cloud that marked

DEFENDANTS RESIST DECREE

Arbitrator Awards Railroad Large Sum
In Settlement of Land Scandal—Suit for Full $800,000 May Be Pushed.

Chicago, April 7.—Benjamin Thomas, John C. Fetzner and Charles H. Kappes have been found guilty by an arbitrator of having defrauded the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad company of $525,000 through real estate transactions. The arbitrator was former Judge E. C. Field, attorney for the Monon road, who was selected by Mr. Thomas and the other defendants to determine whether they were guilty of wrongdoing and should pay the railroad company any of the $800,000-out of which it insisted it had been defrauded. Mr. Thomas formerly was president of the company and Mr. Kappes was its land agent.

Road Wanted $800,000.
Soon after the suit for $800,000 was filed against the accused men last January the attorneys of those interested got together and appointed Attorney Field as arbitrator, and both parties to the suit signed an agreement to abide by his verdict. Attorney Levy Mayer, who represents the defendants, would make no direct statement, but it was gathered from his attitude that the matter would be fought out in the courts.

The suit as filed January 16 contended that the three men named had conspired to defraud the stockholders of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad, and that they had secured $800,000 from the road by manipulation of real estate deals. Criminal proceedings were contemplated and to the office of State's Attorney Wayman and examined, but that official refused to present the matter to the grand jury and asked the attorneys for the railroad to take out warrants for the three men if they wished to carry the matter further.

May Reside Civil Suit.
When the case was brought to arbitration it was thought it would soon be settled, but present indications are that the civil suit will be revived and another attempt be made to get the evidence before a grand jury.

ALLEGED KIDNAPER IS ARRESTED.

Man Accused of Murdering Couple Near Canton Is Caught.

Chicago, April 7.—Cletus Williamson, 28 years old, accused of the murder of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Koons, in Canton, O., last Tuesday was arrested in this city and is said to have made a partial confession. Koons was 60 years old and his wife 55. His daughter by a former marriage married Williamson, whose home is near Massillon, O., 11 miles from the scene of the crime.

The murder of Mr. and Mrs. Koons was discovered when Earl, their ten-year-old son, went to the home of a neighbor and told the story of the shooting. The boy's story was that late Tuesday night he heard shots in an adjoining room and, entering, saw Williamson standing over the bodies of his parents with a smoking revolver in his hand. Seeing the boy, Williamson hurled a brick at him, striking him on the head and rendering him unconscious.

When the police found the house they found the dead bodies of the Koons couple. They had both been shot and beaten and the gas jets in the house were turned on.

PREFERS A NATIONAL GREETING.

Roosevelt Does Not Wish New York Demonstration to Be Local.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 7.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt desires that if a reception is tendered him in New York on his return from abroad it shall be national and not local.

A. P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburg Leader, sent a cablegram to home advising Mr. Roosevelt that there seems to be a desire to make his reception in New York local rather than national and suggesting that the demonstration be made by all the people of the nation. The following reply was received:

"Received of course wants celebration national, if held at all. As you say, his desire is to give the people at large a chance to greet him if they so wish."

SHAFT FOR CLEVELAND SIMPLE.

No Mention of High Office on Princeton Cemetery Monument.

Princeton, N. J., April 7.—With no mention in the inscription of the fact that he was at one time president of the United States, but reading merely, "Grover Cleveland, born Caldwell, N. J., March 18, 1837; died Princeton, N. J., June 24, 1908," a monument to the memory of former President Cleveland was completed on his grave in the Princeton cemetery. Beside it was placed a marble slab to mark the grave of Ruth Cleveland, his daughter. It, too, bears a simple inscription. Both stones were erected at the direction of Mrs. Cleveland.

SAYLER WIDOW WEEPS IN MIDST OF STORY

Woman Accused With Her Father and Dr. Miller of Murder Breaks Down.

Watseka, Ill., April 7.—When Mrs. Lucy Saylor, widow of John Byron Saylor, the banker who was slain in his home at Watseka City last July, went on the witness stand in the trial of Dr. W. R. Miller, John Grundgen, her father, and herself, who said: "The night before he was shot my husband told me his bank account was overdrawn and I would have to go to the bank and get him some money, or he would do something desperate."

As she was reciting the story of the shooting of her husband Mrs. Saylor broke down on the witness stand and wept. She told of her husband's attack on Dr. Miller and of running herself from the house before the shots were fired.

Mrs. Saylor also testified that with the consent of her husband she had gone to Europe with Peter West and his wife and that merchandise and produce was sent to the Saylor home by Mr. West at frequent intervals.

Mrs. Saylor declared that after the shooting she saw the ax near the body of her husband. The testimony of Mrs. Saylor corroborated that of "Doctor Miller on the same incidents."

The widow told of Mr. Saylor refusing to join in a game of cards with Doctor Miller, herself and her father, John Grundgen; then of his rushing into the parlor, seizing a hatchet from beneath the lounge and shouting: "I'm prepared for this; I'm going to kill you!" and rushing on Doctor Miller with the upraised weapon.

Mrs. Saylor said her husband overturned the table and lamp as he rushed forward and that she ran outside after hearing the shots. After quiet was restored she returned, she said.

"I went to the body and knelt beside my husband and found he was dead," said Mrs. Saylor.

Y. M. C. A. OF TEXAS CONVENES.

Annual Convention Is Formally Opened at Waco—Strong Program.

Waco, Tex., April 7.—An unusually strong program has been arranged for the annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Texas, which was formally opened last night in the First Baptist church. The music is an especially attractive feature. L. M. Ward of Sherman leading the convention singing and the Houston association made quartet rendering selections.

This morning addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Carter H. Jones of Oklahoma City, and F. B. Smith, secretary of religious work department, international committee. In the afternoon R. T. Belmont of Houston made a report on amateur athletics; W. W. Dillon of the Association Training school, Chicago, spoke on "A New Calling," and boys' work was discussed by A. E. Hungerford of Dallas, G. H. Cheek of San Antonio and G. W. Sheffer of Galveston.

The program for the rest of the convention includes addresses by William E. Sweet of Denver, Fred H. Smith of New York, C. L. Gates of Kansas City, W. D. Weatherford of Nashville, J. C. Morcer of New York and several leaders in the work in this state.

TAFT EULOGIZES THE JEWS.

Says Their People Are Most Entitled to Be Aristocrats.

Washington, April 7.—Representative Jews of America, delegates to the convention of the B'nai B'rith, cheered President Taft to the echo last night when he concluded an address at their annual banquet with these words:

"There is no people so much as yours entitled to become the aristocrats of the world and yet who make the best republicans."

The president welcomed the delegates to Washington and outlined to them plans for the making of the capital city greater and more beautiful.

As the president was speaking, Speaker Cannon entered. President Taft, abruptly pausing, turned to the speaker and said: "And now, ladies and gentlemen, here comes the worthy gentleman who controls the appropriations of the United States."

With one hand on President Taft's shoulder the speaker rejoined: "Under the rules of the house, I am not half as much to be honored as the worthy gentleman who spends the appropriations of the United States."

"HIGH UP" PITTSBURGERS CONFESS BRIBERY

President of German National Bank Is Indicted on Charge of Conspiracy.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 7.—Frank N. Hoffstet, president of the Pressed Steel Car company and one of the most prominent business men in the country, is accused of giving a $52,500 bribe in connection with the recent election of the city of Pittsburg, Pa. The accusation against Mr. Hoffstet was made by the grand jury when, in a presentment and report, sensational with allegations of wholesale bribery, it recommended the indictment of Mr. Hoffstet.

President Emil Winter of the Workington's Savings Bank and Trust company of Allegheny, another of the financial pillars of Pittsburg, except to the bar of justice to confess that he had bribed councilmen to the extent of $20,000.

James M. Anderson, general bookkeeper of the Workington's Savings Bank and Trust company, was arraigned on a charge of having mutilated the books of his bank to make exposure of certain persons. He pleaded nolo contendere and was placed under bail.

The indictment of Hoffstet was not unexpected by those who have followed the graft cases, yet the violence of the presentment made to the court by the grand jury astounded every one. For some years now Hoffstet has been making his residence in New York, having a fine residence on Long Island. The grand jury takes cognizance of this and calls on the district attorney to "proceed forthwith to extradite him" in case he does not at once obey the summons to appear before the grand jury.

SHOE-STRETCHER

Locks Automatically as It Is Pushed
Into the Shoe.

A shoe-stretching device that is as simple as it is effective has been invented by an Illinois man. It locks automatically as it is pressed down into the shoe that is to be stretched. Two levers are pivoted together near their lower ends, which are shaped to fit in the heel and under the instep of a shoe. One of the upper ends has a tooth rack along it while the other has a link with a V-shaped edge to engage the teeth in the rack and draw the upper ends of the levers together, thus forcing the lower extremities out and stretching the shoe. The link is curved so that as the tooth is pressed down it locks automatically in place. This device is handy for use in home or store, either to stretch shoes that are too tight or to answer the purpose of a tree by inserting it in a wet shoe in order that the boot may not become tighter in drying.

PUMP ON THE MILK BOTTLE

The Contents Withdrawn Without Possibility of Any Contamination.

In the effort to prepare the baby's milk with the least possible amount of exposure it has become the custom to draw the milk from a bottle. The idea is a good one, but unfortunately a great deal of damage was done through the ignorance of mothers and nurses in starting the flow of the siphon by sucking one end so as to draw the milk up through the tube.

An automatic means of drawing off the contents of a bottle has been devised and is shown in the accompanying cut. In this the milk is forced out, not by suction, but by compression of the air in the bottle. The device consists merely of a cup of rubber mounted on the siphon and arranged to rest on the mouth of the milk bottle. The neck of this cup is milk bottle. The neck of this cup is milk bottle. The neck of this cup is milk bottle.

Causes of Typhoid.

Typhoid is now known to spring from a variety of sources, and Dr. Souton, a British health officer, doubts whether ten per cent. of cases can be attributed to infected drinking water. Polluted food seems to be a common cause, and cases of doubtful origin have suggested that other germs besides the so-called typhoid bacilli may produce the disease.

Her Revenge.

On a crowded street car recently there were several stout men taking up more room than they should. A slip of a girl got on and the conductor called out "move up, please." They reluctantly moved about six inches and the girl squeezed in. A few minutes later a tremulously stout woman laden with parcels entered and the girl immediately offered her seat, which she accepted. The selfish men were lost to view under 250 pounds of stoutness and the girl chuckled to herself.

Preserving Youth.

To preserve a youthful appearance let the diet be nourishing and digestible, with plenty of hot milk and milk cream. A greasy skin requires strict attention to diet, from which cream, much butter, all pastry and rich foods must be excluded. Those subject to flushing of the face should not drink hot liquids, only warm ones. Pale people should eat underdone meat, lightly cooked eggs, oysters and plain milk puddings, and drink hot milk freely.

Proclaims His Feelings.

Without the doctor and my better half I have my doubts whether there would have been an opportunity to write this, and this reminds me to say that, against protestations, I'm prepared to say, there is no ensuement to the afflicted and no satisfaction so intensely income unbearable to let your voice proclaim the feeling. Staleness is very noble, to be sure, but when nature demands the tribute of a hearty groan or grunt from a sufferer she is apt to revenge herself if it is suppressed.—Ocala Star.

The 75 New York owners were not aware that their travels and matter of expense were to be made a matter of record, and the 50 Dayton owners were likewise unconscious of the fact that they were running up a world-breaking record.

In both instances the cars were simply driven at the will of the owners—anywhere and everywhere. There was no particular striving for economy, no more than any user would naturally give his car.

Can Jim McGuire make a winner out of the Cleveland club for the season of 1910? There is one point in favor of this combination. This spring their team isn't being touted as a sure world buster. For several seasons past the Cleveland club has been looked upon as the team that had to be figured against by anyone who had real designs on the American league pennant. A few years ago Cleveland was feared as a team of sluggers and had to be counted on. As a general thing one club would go along until July 1 and then would come the slump, caused by injuries to a great extent that would put the club out of the race. But this year Cleveland is being overlooked chiefly because of the miserable showing of 1909, when Lajoie threw up his job as manager. In August and August Jim McGuire took the helm. Under these conditions will the club work the other way? Far from being proved at the fact that he did not make a success as a manager, Lajoie is jumping in with greater energy than ever. Because Terry Turner's arm is hardly strong enough to allow him to play short, and because George Stovall is doing back somewhat, Lajoie is being played at first this season. Some of the wise ones are making cracks that Lajoie is too old to switch positions and learn to play first. But as a matter of fact he broke into big leagues as a first sacker with the Philadelphia Nationals. With Nap at first and Turner at second that right side of the infield is well taken care of.

Nichols is the player who now seems favored for the shortstop position, with Bill Bradley at third. Neal Hall, the hero of the unassisted triple play of last season, is sure to be retained in the role of utility man. Hall has a way of playing sensational ball when put in for short stretches as relief, while he falls down on the long hauls. In the outfield there are many relations. Elmer Flick and Dodo Bruns, Ham and Lord Hollister, Art Krueger, secured from Columbus, has the reputation of being a heavy hitter and has maintained it during the training season to make him worthy of confidence.

SEWING CABINET

Forms Case or Can Be Stood by Seamstress Like Screen.

The most convenient thing yet in the form of a sewing cabinet has been devised by a Missouri man. It can be stood up near the owner like a screen or when closed it easily carried by handles at the side and top. The cabinet is made in two parts, hinged together. Inside is a series of supporting arms, with pegs to set the spools on. There are cushions for pins and needles for needles and hooks to hang foot or other sewing silk on. Also there are pockets to keep material or patterns on the other side to a drop panel on which the articles in immediate use can be placed, and below this is a larger pocket, adapted to hold embroidery and the hoops used in this kind of work. Such a cabinet will hold everything that a woman needs for sewing, except a machine, and being compact in arrangement can be carried to a friend's home. When it is stood up by the screen cloth it brings everything within easy reach and saves confusion.

New Kindergarten Method.
Kindergarten methods of educating young children have always been a prominent success. Recently a new phase of the system was invented and put into effect by a Belgian lady, Miss Pecher. She teaches young children by dolls, representing personages and scenes in European history, arranged in order of time, from the earliest dates. The plan works excellently.

ESTABLISH CAMP UP ROCK RIVER

THIRTEEN OF THE STRIKING LEATHER WORKERS HAVE MODEL HOME.

WAIT END OF THE TROUBLE

Conditions at Bassett and Echlin Factory Remain the Same—Waiting Developments.

"Eight miles up the Rock river, on the Corners farm, thirteen of the striking employees of the Bassett and Echlin factory have established a model camp and here the numerated portion of the force of thirty-four that walked out there some days ago, are waiting for the settlement of the disputed questions.

It is a novel idea, this camp, and has solved the problem for the im-matured portion of the leather work-

JANESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL TEAM.

ward. On floor: Koch, forward and vice union. The married men remain in the city and are closely watching the situation and keeping their brothers up the river posted as to how matters are going. Of course it is a little cool up there these cold days and nights but for the most part the men say they enjoy it.

The question involved in the strike of the leather workers on horse goods involves an eight hour day for ten hours pay and an increase of fifteen per cent for the pieceworkers. The strike is general throughout the United States and the Bassett and Echlin company is directly affected owing to the fact that it is a member of the association of manufacturers.
The John C. Nichols harness company, not being a member of the manufacturers association, granted the demands of the men and is not affected. (Continued, Murdock, and Sudler, local dealers, have also signed the new scale and are working over-time to meet the demand for harnesses and supplies. In all eleven factories and thirty retail stores in the district affected have signed the scale.

The manufacturers association evidently plans to make it a fight to the finish with the union and on their application for work cards, lay down certain restrictions to all applicants.
First, stating the shop is a non-union shop; next, making the applicant swear he is not a member of any labor organization, nor will he become affiliated in any. That the factory can dictate whether it be time or piecework that is done and that the applicant also agrees to take up any differences with the foreman of the department directly. He also agrees to abide by the shop rules.

It is these shop rules that the union men object to. They state the shop is a non-union one. That fifty-nine hours with sixty hours pay constitutes a week's work. The hours are fixed at seven and one for starting work, and twelve and six for the closing hours. Seven minutes is allowed the worker to wash up and be ready to leave the factory before the closing hours.

Quality and quantity will be the basis for time workers and all damage to products through carelessness, there will be charged to employees. There is to be no extra rate for overtime work. Other restrictions are relative to leaving the factory during working hours and touching machinery and tools other than those they are hired to operate.

The companies also reserve the right to hire and discharge, and the pay days to be each Saturday with one day's pay held back each week.
It is said that these rules are drawn up by the manufacturers association and are one of the serious drawbacks to the solution of the settlement of the present difficulties.

While in Janesville there are but thirty-four workers affected, in some of the larger cities the numbers run into the hundreds. All efforts to settle the strike here have thus far been unavailing but the workers claim that an adjustment of the troubles will be made soon as the visible supply of manufactured articles in this line is growing less and the demand increasing.

'J'S AWARDED TO BASKETBALL SQUAD

Members of Janesville High School Five Will Receive Emblems Of Honors Won.

The high school basketball team has completed its season and the members of the squad who took part in the larger share of the winning games have been awarded the "J", symbolic of athletic honors won at the school.
The team, while not heavy, was fast and out of twelve games played, some of them with laces that exceeded the local squad in weight and height, won eight. The schedule was one of the hardest ever attempted by a local school outfit.

The first game of the season played with the Annual, was lost to the "old grays." In their next contest with the Beloit high school basketball team they began to show skill and wiped up the Line City aggregation 45 to 21. This started a run of eight straight victories before they were ville High School.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Wisconsin, April 6.—
The Evansville High School will graduate sixteen in June; six young ladies and ten young men. They have accomplished much of the strenuous work of the year, all having prepared their orations and delivered them before the high school. The seniors have selected as the class play "Crazy Idea" by Maurice Hagenman. June 2nd and 3rd are the dates set for commencement exercises and Prof. O'Shea, of Wisconsin State University, will give the commencement address. The candidates for diplomas are: Forrest Durner, Grant Howard, Alvin Dillard, Jessie Kingdon, Hugh Alford, Helen Brunsell, Ellsworth Lee, Clifford Pearsall, Nina Worthing, Earl Potter, Will Tomlin, Hazel Coulter, Clara Howkins, Harold Theobald, Margaret Johnson and Arthur Tomlin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Glick have selected plans for a new home which will be erected this year. Mr. Glick has been hired as clerk in the Grange store to take the place of Wm. Glick who has taken back his old position in a grocery store in Janesville. Mr.
Glick will move his family to that city the first of next month.

Alvy Stag, who for the past year has been conducting a Chinese laundry in this city, has decided he can do better elsewhere and will leave here the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fleck of Brodhead spent Sunday with Mrs. Fleck's father, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dixon.
Miss Marion Partridge entertained a company of friends Monday evening in honor of her visiting guest, Miss Clara Lamb of Madison.

Fred Blakey has resigned his position in the post office and has accepted a position with a firm at Echo, Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Blakey left Monday for their new home.
Merrill Ayers will take Mr. Blakey's place in the post office.

Mrs. E. E. Hartley, who has been quite ill for the past week, is improving.

Irving Wallace is the new clerk in Clark's grocery store.
Mrs. H. H. Hille of Madison, is spending the day in Janesville.

Miss Lena Rye of Johnstown, is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Fred Winston.

The camping club were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Lew Van Wart last evening.

Miss Hazel Campbell of Madison, is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

A. W. Schunkamp of Madison, is a business caller in Janesville today.

marked improvements on 3 1/2 acres property on First street.

Mrs. Blanche West is a Janesville visitor today.

Mrs. Frank Comstock and children of Oregon visited the first of the week at the home of her parents, E. H.
Morrison and wife.

Mrs. B. W. Hubbard of Brooklyn and Miss Mable Hubbard of Beloit, are spending today with Mr. and Mrs.
Lloyd Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Simmons are in Oregon for a brief visit to their daughter, Mrs. Harvey Danks.

MONROE BANK TO INSTALL NEW SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULT
Fire and Burglar Proof Vault Ordered and Work Will Begin When the Material Arrives.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., April 7.—A new safety deposit vault, fire and burglar proof, is to be installed in the First National bank. The bank has had plans drawn and is now awaiting material for the vault. It will be placed just back of the present vault, and will be about the same size as the old one.

The four year old daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Steve Wymann broke her arm while playing with a little brother.
She was standing up in her high chair when suddenly she overbalanced, falling to the floor. The bone was a bad one, occurring at the elbow. The patient is under the care of Dr. H.
H. Clark and is resting comfortably.

A number of changes were made among the supervisors of the county at the spring election. W. H. Prisk, who for many years has represented
St. Pleasant, was defeated by Albert Babler, Jr., 58 to 51. Two factions in Albany township, divided over a road improvement proposition, fought it out and T. M. Crook won out over Paul Martin.

Mrs. Pauline Rittenbuck of Pittsburg, Pa., and Mr. Adolph Scheidegger of Woodford were married here by Rev. P. A. Schuch at St. John's parishage yesterday afternoon.

Rev. J. H. Berkey is back from his tour through the northern part of the state, where he has been delivering temperance lectures for some time. His last lecture was at Maz-manah.

News from Howard Chadwick has been received here to the effect that he continues to make headway at the Penn Valley hospital, Kansas City, where he was operated upon for appendicitis, and he expects to leave there in about ten days. His father, W. W. Chadwick, who is taking treatments at Excelsior Springs, Mo., is able to be out, after being quite ill.

Demonstrated by Experience.
"Experience has fully demonstrated," says the Atlanta Sage, in the Kansas City Star, "that an American housewife who marries a foreign 'noble man' for his title has about the same chance to win happiness that a man when he looks up with old John Harleycorn."

The EDISON Phonograph

would still be the greatest sound-reproducing instrument without the Amberola.

The Amberola would still be the final and greatest expression of the Edison Phonograph without Amber Records. Amber Records would still be the greatest triumph in Record-making without Slezak and the other Grand Opera stars. But when you get Mr. Edison's own Phonograph invented and perfected by him, and when you get in addition to that the Amberola, the finest form of the Edison Phonograph, and when you can have to play upon the Amberola, or any type of the Edison Phonograph, the Amber Records, that play twice as long as Edison Standard Records, that are the clearest and best playing records.

and when you get upon Amber Records such singers as Slezak, the giant tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and other stars, can you think of buying any sound-reproducing instrument until you have thoroughly investigated the Edison, the Amberola, Amber Records and Edison Grand Opera Records?

There are Edison dealers everywhere. Go to the nearest and best Edison Phonograph dealer both Edison Standard and Edison Amber Records. Get complete catalogues from your dealer or from us.

Cherub Devine

By SEWELL FORD

Copyright, 1909, by Mitchell Kennerly

Involuntarily Mr. Hewington raised his arms and stepped directly into the middle of the path. That was quite sufficient. The runner dug his heels into the gravel, checked his flight long enough for one dazed look and promptly dashed into a clump of golden glow, reappearing to the view of Timinus a second later headed toward the house. Evidently the man was bewildered or else he would not have failed to observe the by no means inconspicuous figure of Mrs. Timinus looming large in the kitchen door.

"Stop! Mr. Maggle! Stop! Mr. Maggle!" shouted Timinus, abandoning all secrecy now.

Mrs. Timinus was not one to wait for explanations at such a time. Timinus wanted somebody stopped, and stopped he should be. With surprising agility she got her huge bulk in motion and moved impulsively and at right angles upon the refugee. As she did this Timinus, dragging the calf and followed by Mr. Hewington, closed in on the other side. But the house was fired of the game or else he was wounded. He no longer bounded merely upon his wobbly legs, now ahead, now just behind Timinus. He stuck his forefeet straight out and saved himself at the last moment.

This left a gap of some ten yards in the line of offense, and through it the hunted man bolted bravely, the talk of his frock coat fluttering a fainting salute as he spurred toward freedom. The sedate Epplage was just in time to view the escape with open mouth and staring eyes.

"Take after 'im, you blooming chump!" screamed the disgusted Timinus. "Why don't you take after 'im?"

Thus exhorted, the butler did break into a stiff trot, which was so patently ineffective that Timinus might have laughed, had the occasion been less serious. As it was, he only gasped out an exclamation of disapproval, threw the calf's lead rope to Mr. Hewington, with the suggestion, "Here, you 'old 'im, governor!" and darted after his prisoner.

Do you wonder, then, at the amazement of the Countess Veechi when into the calm of the sunset hour burst this uninitiated procession—first, a man swinging a silk hat in his right hand and panting as he ran; next, Timinus, his elbows close to his sides and his jaw thrust out in approved Marathon style; third, Mrs. Timinus, very red of face and her ample chest billowing up and down like a stormy sea, but getting over the ground quite rapidly; fourth, Epplage, his solemn eyes almost popping out of his head, and at the rear her father, vainly trying to urge the reluctant calf into a livelier gait?

The race between Timinus and his elusive prisoner was progressing very prettily. They were keeping to the driveway now, and the smooth macadam offered fine footing. At once there came to the ears of all concerned the sharp, imperious honk-honk of an automobile horn.

The next instant a big red car whirled in through the gates and at sight of the advancing procession in the roadway was brought to a sudden stop. From the back seat of the tonneau stepped forth Cherub Devine. It was the most dramatic and opportune entrance he had ever made in all his career.

The panting fugitive halted, stared apprehensively at the Cherub, then cast a hurried look over his shoulder at Timinus. Quickly he made his choice. Turning like a flash, he dodged Timinus neatly. Another moment and he had circled around Mrs. Timinus.

Perhaps he would have been doubling and dodging yet had there not occurred a diversion. The calf in its excitement had begun running in a circle and had wound Mr. Hewington up with the rope so that he could move neither hands nor feet. Mr. Hewington was loudly calling for Epplage.

Just then, however, it was Epplage's turn to try stopping the prisoner. He was already jumping from one side of the road to the other in order to confuse the enemy when Mr. Hewington's cries for assistance distracted his attention from the game. Years of training showed there. Epplage abandoned his post and started for his master. A yell of rage from Timinus reached his ears. Epplage saw the fugitive about to speed past him. For a second he hesitated. Then, undaunted by his long legs and throwing discretion to the winds, he hurled himself headlong across the road, wrapping ped his long arms midway about the frock coat, and, amid a cloud of dust, cap and captive came desperately to earth.

As such things go it was rather a stirring dash—for it was all over. "As this a tackle as I ever saw made," declared the Cherub. "Epplage, you're a winner. But how did it all happen? How did he get out?"

The Countess Veechi, who, with the help of Mrs. Timinus, had separated Mr. Hewington from the calf, came up just in time to hear this question asked.

"I think I can best answer Mr. Devine," said she, with just a suspicion of sarcasm in her tone. "It was I who released this gentleman from the larder. Timinus will you please step one side?"

"But, miss, 'e's such a—" "Timinus!" repeated the countess. "You want to let him go, do you, countess?" queried the Cherub.

"I do."

"Then scout," and Cherub Devine pointed a chubby thumb over his shoulder.

"Thanks," said the ex-prisoner, and, with a faint grimace in the very face of the baffled Timinus, he started off.

Not until he had disappeared around the first curve of the driveway was a word spoken. Then Cherub Devine, who had been regarding the averted face of the countess with a whimsical look in his blue eyes, broke the spell.

"I suppose," he began, "you wonder why we had him shut up in—"

"I understand perfectly," said the countess. "He told me all about it himself."

"Oh, then you had a talk with him, eh?"

"I did." The countess was looking steadily at him, and she paused as if to invite criticism of her action.

The Cherub shrugged his shoulders. He was beginning to realize that something more than the mere escape of this Count Veechi had occurred.

Could there have been a reconciliation? The Cherub could not credit that.

"I expect he didn't tell you, though, just why I got so interested in him, did he?" and Mr. Devine favored the countess with one of those instantaneous winks of his by which he was wont to express faithful audacity.

"He made everything quite clear, Mr. Devine," said the countess, with significant emphasis. "And, while I can hardly approve of your motives, I can wish you every success in your new enterprise. Only please do not use our larder as a prison again," and she walked away.

"Whew! Now I ought to be good, I guess!" exclaimed the bewildered Cherub.

As he gazed about the little group of mystified persons he saw Mr. Hewington, still somewhat dazed and a good deal ruffled as to appearance from his recent experience with the calf. The Cherub led Mr. Hewington down the driveway toward the waiting car and observed casually.

"Well, our count is loose again."

"Our count, sir? Why, what do you mean?"

"Now, see here, Hewington, don't you go to being mysterious. I'm twisted up enough as it is. You saw Count Veechi walk off just now, didn't you?"

"Count Veechi? Where? When?"

"Oh, come!" said the Cherub. "Didn't you help chase him all over the lot?"

"My dear sir, that person was not Count Veechi."

"Why-a-at! Say, let's have that again, will you? Wasn't the count, did you say?"

"Most certainly not, sir. I will admit that at first I supposed it was the count, but no sooner had he been captured than I perceived that some one had made a most stupid blunder."

"But he said he was the count—told me so himself," insisted the Cherub.

"My dear Mr. Devine," and Mr. Hewington assumed his most dignified attitude, "if you doubt that I cannot recognize the man who—"

"There, there! I'll take your word for it. You say he isn't the count, do you?"

"Positively, sir, he is not the count!"

"Then 'who the 'dell is he?" exploded the Cherub.

"That, sir, is a matter in which I am not deeply interested."

"Well, I'll be hanged!" was the Cherub's only comment as he watched Mr. Hewington walk stiffly away.

Long Wireless Transmission.
A remarkably long wireless transmission was recently recorded by the steamship "Tennessee," five days out from Honolulu, which succeeded in catching a message from Table Bluff on the coast of California. The message was a weather report, which was afterward verified by the navy department. The distance of transmission was 4,580 miles.
